

Daniel Jardes, DVM, DACVIM

Internal Medicine

Dr. Daniel Jardes earned his Bachelor of Science in Biology from the University of Kansas in 2007, followed by his Doctor of Veterinary Medicine (DVM) degree from Kansas State University in 2011. He completed a one-year rotating internship and a three-year residency in small animal internal medicine at Tufts University in Massachusetts. During his residency, Dr. Jardes focused his research on acute kidney injury and chronic kidney disease. He became board-certified by the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine in 2015.

Dr. Jardes has a special interest in kidney disease and is passionate about advancing care for patients with renal conditions. Outside of work, he enjoys woodworking, spending time with his family, traveling, and worshipping God.
