

Sue Chen, DVM, DABVP (Avian)

Avian & Exotics

Dr. Sue Chen is a board-certified avian specialist, recognized by the American Board of Veterinary Practitioners. A graduate of Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine, Dr. Chen developed a specialized curriculum focusing on exotic and non-traditional species. She further honed her expertise through a specialty internship at Gulf Coast Avian & Exotics and completed a residency in avian and exotic animal medicine and surgery at The Animal Medical Center in New York City.

Dr. Chen is an accomplished author, with numerous publications in peer-reviewed veterinary journals and textbooks. She is also a sought-after lecturer, presenting at both local and national veterinary conferences. As the Education Program Director at Gulf Coast Veterinary Specialists, she plays an instrumental role in developing training programs to shape the next generation of veterinary specialists. Additionally, Dr. Chen serves as an adjunct faculty member at Texas A&M College of Veterinary Medicine, where she mentors veterinary students pursuing careers in non-traditional species.

Outside of her professional life, Dr. Chen is an avid traveler and self-proclaimed foodie. She enjoys exploring new restaurants and cuisines with her daughters, Olivia and Daphne, and her husband, James.